All Japan Celebrates
3-Power Pact Signing

Six Mass Meetings Held in Tokyo;
Imperial Rule Aiding Body Hailed

In celebration of the recently-signed Japanese-Germany-Italian Pact and the formation of the Association for Assisting the Throne, national mass meetings were held Sunday morning throughout the Empire including Korea and Formosa.

More than 120,000 citizens of Tokyo assembled at six places to express their joy over Japan's alignment with Germany and Italy and the establishment of the association as a driving force of the national movement for the realization of the new national structure.

Hibiya, Shiba and Hamacho Parks, and the Outer Garden of the Meiji Shrine and the Korakuen Stadium were the scenes of the mass meetings.

At Hibiya Park, the rally was opened at 9 a.m., with Yosuke Matsuoka, Foreign Minister; Count Yoriyasu Arima, Director-General of the Association for Assisting the Throne; General Eugen Ott, German Ambassador; Mario Imbriani, Italian Ambassador; Shuzo Okada, Governor of Tokyo; Tomejiro Okubo, Mayor of Tokyo, and 23,000 representatives of various groups in attendance.

SING 'KIMIGAYO'

Following an opening address by Vice-Chairman Kuwabara of the Tokyo Municipal Assembly, the attendants bowed in the direction of the Imperial Palace and then sang the national anthem of Japan.

Governor Okada of Tokyo then read the Imperial Rescript granted on the occasion of the conclusion of the tripartite alliance, followed by Mayor Okubo of Tokyo who delivered an address.

Following this, Foreign Minister Matsuoka read a message of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, who was absent.

Saying that Japan has entered into the league with Germany and Italy to accomplish the same objective of bringing an end to the world upheavals as speedily as possible, the Premier's message declares that Japan's mission for the construction of a new world order has become increasingly more important than ever.

The message then explained the absolute necessity of perfecting a new national structure on the basis of a highly organized national defense structure to achieve the ideal of the Japanese nation, while coping with the fresh international situation whatever difficulties may arise.

CONGRATULATES FORMATION

Expressing congratulations over the formation of the Association for Assisting the Throne as a driving force of the national movement for formation of such a new national structure, the message in conclusion says: "While celebrating the conclusion of the Three Powers' Pact between Japan, Germany and Italy, we are determined to realize the mission imposed upon our nation and fulfill perfectly our duty of assisting the Throne in the conduct of State administration."

Then Torajiro Ushizuka, former Mayor of Tokyo, read the written oath to the following effect:

"In obedience to His Majesty's command, we hereby pledge ourselves to assist the Throne in the conduct of State administration internally and to consolidate the league with Germany and Italy internationally to strive for the construction of a world new order, thereby to ease His Majesty's mind."

Representing the German nation, Ambassador Ott mounted the rostrum and declared that the Three Powers' Pact concluded between Japan, Germany and Italy is not a mere political agreement made between the Governments of the three Powers, but it carries with it a far deeper significance, and the scope of the alliance is far and wide.

MARCHING AHEAD

"All the Germany people, all the Italian people and all the Japanese people know that a new world order of justice and righteousness can only be reached through the path common to them, and since September 27 we are marching this common road shoulder to shoulder," the German Ambassador went on.

"We are firmly determined that nothing shall daunt us from marching on this road until an enduring world peace is established on the firm foundation of a new world order." Ambassador Ott continued.

In conclusion, the German Ambassador said: "In behalf of the German people, we take this occasion to tender our heartfelt appreciation to all those who have made great contribution toward the conclusion of the Three Powers' Pact and who have prayed for the success of it."

Representing the Italian nation, Ambassador Indelli then said that the Three Power's Pact is not directed against any specified country and that its primary object is to prevent further spread of conflicts which are now waging over the Continents of Europe and Asia.

Then the Ambassador declared that at all events nothing could check the materialization of a new political, economic and social form in Europe and Asia.

CAN'T BE STOPPED

He said in conclusion that it is a sheer notion of absurdities to suppose that plutocrat countries bent on the maintenance of status quo and the monopolization of special privileges could stop heroic marching of the three peoples by applying to their economic weapons.

Then Foreign Minister Matsuoka, Count Arima and Zenjiro Horikiri, managing director of the National Spiritual Mobilization Headquarters, delivered addresses of congratulation.

The meeting was brought to an end at 10 a.m. Simultaneously mass meetings at other places were also brought to a close.

After the meetings, 120,000 citizens of Tokyo marched toward the Imperial Palace, waving national flags of the three nations, shouting "Banzai."
